A REMEDY FOR LUNG DISEASES.

Dr. Robert Newton, late President of the Eclectic College, of the City of New York, and formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, used DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM very extensively in his practice, as many of his patients now living, and restored to health by the use of this invaluable medicine, can amply testify. He always said that so good a remedy ought not to be considered merely as a patent medicine, but that it ought to be prescribed freely by every physician as a sovereign remedy in all cases of Lung diseases. It cures consumption and all pectoral complaints.

An Interesting Budget of Congressional News.

A MINISTER KILLS HIMSELF.

A Cleveland Man has a Strange Experience with a Ghost—The Storm Blockades the Railroads in Pennsylvania

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—In the house of representatives the first business will be the regular call of states for the introduction of bills. As the past week has been principally devoted to this business and the members have for the most part relieved their desks from bills which had accumulated, it is not likely that to-morrow's call will consume much time. The next business for the week is a call of committees for reports, but in view of their very recent organization there is little expected from them during the next few days. The senate presidential succession bill may, however, be reported to the house from the committee on that subject on Tuesday or Wednesday. In this event, discussion will probably consume the remainder of the week, as many members have already expressed to the speaker their desire to be recognized to speak upon the subject. The committee on coinage, weights and measures will not organize until the middle of the week, and as this committee is supposed [illegible] on the silver question [illegible] [illegible].

The [illegible] bill remains unfinished business in the senate. The electoral count bill and [illegible] bill are to be brought up for consideration [illegible] Dakota bill [illegible] toward the end of the week [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] during the last congress the coming debates [illegible] [illegible] and Mr. Manderson has given notice that he will address the senate to-morrow on [illegible] [illegible].

NEWS AND GOSSIP

An Interesting Budget of Congressional Notes—A Vast Array of Bills

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Enough bills have already been introduced in the house of representatives [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible]

IN THE SENATE

[illegible] [illegible] the senate has introduced a bill to appropriate $1,000,000 to be expended before June 30 [illegible] continuing the improvements of the mouth of the Columbia river.

[illegible] are rather a quaint [illegible] of the committee on coinage [illegible] Hand it yesterday afternoon a report. On it the members of the committee perpetrated the joke declaring that the committee as at present constituted was a silver head with a gold tail, or it might be reversed and designated a gold tail and a silver head. Either way suits the case.

It seems to be the general impression on the democratic side of the chamber that the present committee will command legislation against silver no matter what the views of the [illegible].

THE SILVER QUESTION

A Majority of the Coinage Committee Opposed to the Silver Dollar

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Chairman Bland of the coinage committee is inclined to believe that his committee stands seven for to six against suspension of silver coinage, but this fact not only causes him to speak [illegible] made the occasion [illegible] which puts the proposition of the silver question in an entirely new light. Bland said: "I place Seymour Scott, Hemphill, Norwood, James, [illegible] and [illegible] for suspension. Admitting that a majority of the committee will favor suspension, should such a bill be presented there would be a minority report recommending free coinage. When the question comes to a vote the first proposition will be that offered [illegible] the committee [illegible] amendment [illegible] bill as reported by the majority. That amendment will be in the form of a proviso striking out all after the enacting clause, and inserting free coinage provisions. Of course I cannot say what that vote will be, but believe it will [illegible] handsome majority for free coinage. You may remember that in the last congress a majority [illegible] [illegible] instructed me to [illegible] an amendment striking out the section favorable to the views of the majority, and providing that all recoinage of trade dollars should be in addition to the minimum fixed for regular monthly coinage of silver, and the motion prevailed by a large majority of the house. Therefore I am free to say that the complexion of the committee is immaterial to me."

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

NO CHANCE FOR TARIFF REFORM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Although Speaker Carlisle has made up the ways and means committee with the purpose of passing a tariff bill there is poor prospect of such effort succeeding even in the house. There are a number of democrats who under ordinary circumstances would vote with their party on such question, but who deem it unwise to waste time now in considering a measure that the senate will not pass. But the chief difficulty will be in agreeing upon a tariff bill. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the admin[illegible] tariff law report [illegible].

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Report received at the general land office state that the Northern Pacific railroad company is making extensive sales of timber on public lands in Washington territory, which are claimed as indemnity lands, but which have not been approved to the company. Commissioner Sparks to-day recommended suit to recover $100,000 fee of spruce and [illegible] cut by one party [illegible] Chehalis county [illegible] and sold to the [illegible] firm of A. M. Rev. H. D. Jardine of Kansas City, Takes an Overdose of Chloroform at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10.—Quite a sensation was produced when late to-night the coroner announced that Rev. H. D. Jardine, who was some weeks ago convicted before an ecclesiastical court at Kansas City, had committed suicide here to-day. It appears that Jardine, since his arrival here some days ago to consult with his attorney [illegible] [illegible] the vestry room of Trinity church of which Father Betts is rector. Last evening Jardine and his attorney, Mr. Harrison, and Father Betts had a prolonged conference in the vestry room, during which Mr. Harrison very decidedly expressed the opinion that Bishop Robertson would [illegible] Jardine [illegible] [illegible] case. This had some effect upon Jardine and he manifested considerable feeling, repeatedly declaring his innocence of the charge for which he had been tried, and the justice of his demand for a new trial. [illegible] Father Betts arrived at [illegible] [illegible] to the vestry room to wake Jardine [illegible] [illegible] assistant to Father Betts, who on entering the room detected an odor of chloroform and sent for physicians. On their arrival the doctors they discovered that Jardine had [illegible] and immediately adopted vigorous measures to restore him. After [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the case is likely to create a great sensation [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

THE GREAT STORM

Railroad Traffic Suspended in Pennsylvania—Cold Weather at Chicago

[illegible] [illegible] was completely suspended [illegible] [illegible].

The Pennsylvania and Panhandle roads have been and are still suffering greatly, trains being [illegible] for hours.

The cold has been intense, the mercury hovering [illegible]. Passengers on snow bound trains experienced considerable inconvenience from cold and hunger, but they were generally discharged [illegible].

Great suffering among live stock is reported. At the East Liberty yards several head of cattle are said to have died from exposure and many more are in a dying condition. Washington county farmers were taken unawares and whole flocks of sheep which had not been properly sheltered are reported to have frozen to death.

AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Since midnight yesterday the temperature has gradually fallen to night [illegible] zero at 10 o'clock to-night. Very little snow has fallen during the last twenty four hours, though reports from outside of the city show that the blizzard is still in force. Where [illegible] not detained by snow they are delayed [illegible] hours by the severity of the temperature.

AT PROVINCETOWN

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Jan. 10.—The gale has continued with great severity all day from the northwest. It is estimated that more damage has been done during the past forty eight hours than for the past ten years on this part of the coast. High vessels have been ashore at [illegible] and [illegible] town in this storm, but no lives were lost.

IN FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 10.—The weather here is clear and cold. On Saturday night the thermometer recorded twenty-one degrees at the signal office. Oranges remaining on the trees are frozen and their loss will probably be complete, but the trees so far are not injured. It is slightly warmer to-night.

AT SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Jan. 10.—The mercury was down to [illegible] this morning, which is lower than it has been for fifty years. The vegetable interests of this section of the state will suffer heavily.

AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Cold weather continues. This morning at [illegible] the mercury stood at 10 degrees above and at [illegible] o'clock this evening 12 above zero.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The interest of the English public in home rule has shown a marked decline during the past week. The public perceive that nothing is likely to be said or done before the meeting of parliament.

GREECE ANXIOUS FOR WAR

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The Greek government has made overtures to the government of Montenegro looking to the formation of an alliance both offensive and defensive against the Porte. The king of Greece will leave his capital shortly for the Thessalian frontier to inspect his army. It is supposed that this will be the prelude to the beginning of hostilities. The Greek government has received from Prince Bismarck a reply to their circular note sent recently to the great powers concerning the Balkan question and the attitude of Greece in connection therewith. The German chancellor warns Greece that if she engages in war with Turkey she will do so at her own risk, that she may expect no assistance from any of the great powers, all of which will hold themselves aloof from the controversy.

A MILLION DOLLAR FIRE.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—The extensive mill buildings in Kensington known as Arrot's mills and Beatty's mills, occupying two blocks, bounded by Emerald, Lafferty, Taylor and Coral streets and separated by Adams street, were destroyed by fire this morning, involving a loss estimated at $1,000,000. The buildings were occupied by about a dozen firms engaged in the manufacture of hosiery, cotton and woolen yarns, upholstery goods, Jerseys, mill machinery, etc., all of whom lose heavily in machinery and stocks. All the firms had large stocks of manufactured goods on hand which had already been sold to dealers to be delivered in February. It being Sunday it is difficult to obtain individual losses, members of the different firms residing in various parts of the city remote from the scene of the fire, and books from which figures could be obtained being in safes which are lying in the ruins.

PRESS OPINIONS

Detroit Tribune: As no other man but Blaine had drawn a great [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] but Conkling can be thought of as the [illegible] for the Grant memorial oration.

Chicago Inter Ocean: Over 1100 Republicans [illegible] in Washington clamoring for office. [illegible] The European nations think the United States has no standing army and the New York Sun makes piteous appeal for coast defenses.

Philadelphia Press: President Cleveland's letter denouncing newspapers generally as purveyors of lies did not receive the benefit of Col. Daniel Manning's careful blue-pencil editing. Otherwise [illegible] President would not now be under the necessity of playing the ungrateful crawfish game.

New York Herald: If Mr. Cleveland means what he says, he has determined on a very interesting and important step. He will relieve himself and his cabinet and subordinates absolutely of the daily suggestions and importunities of congressmen for office. We believe he may in this way work out a very important and useful reform.

Detroit Tribune: There is much reason to believe that there are hundreds of thousands—and possibly hundreds of millions—of standard silver dollars in circulation among our people which the government has not coined and it is the clear duty of the government to hunt up the frauds. And the time to do it is now.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Wall street can control gold. It can hoard it and force it to a premium. Is it not possible, even probable, that this is the very thing that Wall street has been doing and is doing, and that all this howling against silver has been for the express purpose of forcing gold to a premium, so that the Wall street sharks can unload?

New York Sun: Last week's scare over gold exports was, as the Sun pointed out, entirely groundless. The amount sent was trifling and it was all taken by a single steamer. Now comes a cable dispatch saying that £50,000 in gold is on its way from London to Halifax. This indicates that no more will be drawn from us for the present at least.

New York Sun: If circumstances should demand an enforcement of the Monroe doctrine of this country to-day, a hostile foreign nation seeing our defenseless condition might scornfully ask us, "What are you going to do about it?" Mr. Tilden has told us what to do in his wise words of warning, and there should be no delay in following his advice.

The Silver Standard is the name of a new paper published at Silver Plume, Colorado. It ought to succeed, for it has an eye to business as well as great common sense, as is proved by its motto, which reads: "Trying to do business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark. You may know what you are doing, but nobody else does."

The United States consumes tin in vast quantities, one great use for tin plates being the manufacture of preserving cans. It is said that upward of $12,000,000 per annum is expended for wages alone in our various tin plate factories, while the sum paid for similar work in Great Britain does not amount to much more than $5,000,000. American tin work is very much lighter and more graceful than that of England, and in England the art of pressing tin has not yet been acquired.

There is an air of decay about Pekin which extends even to its temples. The number of its population is not accurately known, but according to a Chinese estimate, which is probably in excess, it is 1,300,000, of whom 600,000 reside in the Tartar and 700,000 in the Chinese city. There is no direct foreign trade with Pekin, and the small population is made up of the members of the various legations, the maritime customs, the professors at the college and the missionary body.

THE BELLS OF LONDON

As when an eager boy I heard to-night
The self-same bells clash out upon the air
It seemed not then a city of despair,
But a fair home of promise and delight—
This London that now breaks me with its might.
Is this the end of all sweet dreams and fair?
Is this the bitter answer to my prayer?
The bells deride me from the belfry's height.

We clambered to thee in the old, far years,
And all the sorrows of thy life forecast;
And now, with eyes uncomforted by tears,
And dried and seared as from a furnace-blast,
Thou wast vainly where no hope appears,
Between veiled future and disastrous past.

THE MURDER OF PRELLER.

Evidence which Detectives Find against Maxwell.

The World Circled in the Search for Witnesses—What will be Shown on the Coming Trial

The trial of Maxwell at St. Louis for the murder of Preller will soon begin. Dispatches from St. Louis give the following:

The attorneys for the prosecution have discovered some startling evidence in the now famous Maxwell-Brooks Preller murder. They have circled the whole world in their efforts to obtain evidence calculated to convict the defendant. From Hong Kong, China, they will bring as a witness a girl named Grace, whom Maxwell knew in San Francisco. Her evidence will be startling and interesting. On the day Maxwell arrived in San Francisco she was an inmate of a disreputable house. While the two were together in the evening the girl had occasion to go down stairs. When she returned Maxwell was holding a revolver with the muzzle pointed at the door. The girl screamed, whereupon Maxwell said: "Don't be afraid. I won't shoot you. If it had been a man, however, instead of a woman, I should have shot to kill. I have just killed a man, and when that door opened I thought it was some one following me." The girl thought his conduct strange, and, after he had drank considerable wine she plied him with questions. In response he said: "Do you see this ring on my finger?" The girl looked and saw the very ring which has been identified as the one Preller had worn. "That ring," said Maxwell, "I took from the hand of a dead man and every time I look at it it makes me feel nervous and as though some one was following me." The girl asked him who the man was, and he replied: "He was one of the three Prussians whom I shot and killed with this revolver in a hand to hand encounter." About three weeks ago this girl ran away with the first mate of a steamship bound for China. To secure her presence in St. Louis, the circuit attorneys have communicated with the American consul at Hong Kong.

There is one witness wanted by the prosecution who has mysteriously disappeared. This is the Southern hotel bell boy, who, when taken before the chief of police, acted very suspiciously and for one who claimed to know nothing was very reticent. It behooves the prosecution to show that Preller had considerable money about him. Maxwell has already admitted that he had about $1000 when he left here. When he arrived in Auckland he had only $16. The prosecution have followed Maxwell's steps from the moment he left here. They found that it cost him $116 to pay his fare to San Francisco and $5 to pay his passage from San Francisco to Auckland. They tracked him from the moment he arrived in San Francisco. They traced him from the Palace hotel to a tobacconist's shop, where he spent [illegible] cents for tobacco, to a shoeblack's, where he spent 10 cents for a shine, to a barber's, where he spent [illegible] cents for a shave, and to a place where he spent $1 for wine. The detectives have even found the hackman who drove him to the wharf, and the locksmith who furnished him with keys just before his departure. All told, however, the detectives who have followed Maxwell's every movement have not figured more than $150 [illegible]. Now the questions which [illegible] [illegible] with the remainder? The mysterious disappearance [illegible] the Southern hotel bell boy leads the [illegible] [illegible] that Maxwell gave him part of [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] or a word he [illegible].

Witnesses will be brought from New York to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for the West. The [illegible] [illegible] of the steamship Britannia on which Preller and Maxwell crossed the ocean is [illegible] brought here as a witness. He will prove that Maxwell first became acquainted with Preller when the Britannia was within two days of Boston. Preller had been seasick on the voyage and had kept his berth until two days before they arrived in Boston. He had scarcely left his berth when he noticed Maxwell's tricycle in the latter's stateroom. He asked the steward who owned it and when the steward replied Dr. Maxwell he asked what kind of a fellow the latter was. Soon after the steward introduced them to each other.

The state will bring a witness from Boston, the person of a photographer who took Preller's photograph and who subsequently came here and positively identified the corpse found in the South [illegible] as that of Preller. They will bring witnesses from Boston who will prove the acquaintance [illegible] existed there between Preller and Maxwell. They will bring on from Boston the barber who cut Preller's hand by dropping his razor, and they will bring a lady from Cincinnati who will testify that she dressed the wound for Preller while he was in that city. Witnesses will be brought in who identified this scar and cut upon the body found in the Southern hotel. The state will bring in several persons, guests at the Southern hotel, who will testify that on the night that Preller disappeared they heard queer sounds coming from the room in which Preller and Maxwell were.

An important development that the trial will bring to the surface will be the fact that the Preller family, instead of being well-to-do people, are actually in indigent circumstances and this is really the reason that none of them have yet made the long journey to St. Louis. The family now consists of father and mother, a son, and two daughters. Preller senior is keeping a diminutive dry goods establishment in a small town near London. His son is the traveling agent for a London house. His two daughters have to go out into the world to earn their living. One of them is a governess for a family in Berlin, Prussia, while the other is employed as a nurse in a hospital in that city. The latter and her brother have promised to attend the trial. The prosecution evidently believes that their presence here will have its effect on the jury. They can testify to nothing except that their brother has mysteriously disappeared and that his life was not insured, as has been claimed.

The attorneys for the defense when they asked for a continuance of the case said they wanted to take depositions in Auckland, England, Toronto and Boston. So far they have not served the circuit attorneys with notice so that it looks as though they had concluded, when the time came, to let the case stand on the general plea of not guilty. It would be dangerous for them to set up the plea that Maxwell killed Preller by accidentally administering a dose of poison, a theory which, by the way, has often suggested itself, for then all the state would have to prove would be that he was poisoned and it would be left for the jury to decide whether it was accidental or not. Such a plea would place Maxwell directly on the defensive, as well as in a bad light before the jury, for then he would have to explain why he robbed the corpse of his friend, an explanation that would doubly damn him and prove him immediately to be a thief and adventurer.

THE NEWS OF SATURDAY.

Following is an epitome of the news of Saturday printed in detail in the SUNDAY OREGONIAN:

THE EAST.

Fire in Oberlin college destroyed the ladies college, causing a loss of $50,000.

Joe Coburn telegraphs Paddy Ryan from New York that he has matched him against Sullivan to fight in a room, five a side present, for $2500. Ryan telegraphed his acceptance.

Senator Dolph is a man of much influence now. He is a member of the committees on finance and commerce and most of the important appointments in California will be referred to him, as that state has no representation in these committees. For that reason he has become the center of a good deal of interest for Californians.

The storm that has been raging in the Mississippi valley was the severest in years. Up to Saturday night no trains had been able to work through to Omaha for three days, and railroad traffic in Iowa was completely abandoned. The storm extends as far south as Texas. The lowest temperature reached was at Minnedosa, Manitoba, where the thermometer registered 52 below. On the Northern Pacific from Brainerd to Fargo the temperature varied from [illegible] to 51 below the latter at Wadena. A number of people were frozen to death.—The storm raged with great fury along the Atlantic coast and great loss of life and shipping is reported. The schooner Mary C. Farr of Philadelphia from Baltimore for Providence went ashore on the outer bar at Spring Lake, N. J., and is a total wreck. All hands were lost. The schooner Juliet of Ellsworth, Me., was driven on the rocks near Deer Island and the captain, mate and cook were drowned. During a blinding snow storm at Wilmington, Del., a passenger train collided with two engines. Three men on the engines were killed outright and to add to the horror of the scene the passenger train took fire and burned. The passengers escaped with few injuries, but a number of trainmen were badly injured.

PACIFIC COAST.

At San Francisco a race for a purse of $200, mile heats, three in five, to harness, in which were entered Kitty Lynch, an Oregon horse, Maud W., W. W., Magdallah and Marin, was won by Magdallah in straight heats, time, 2:29, 2:26, 2:[illegible].

The Spokane Falls & Coeur d'Alene Railway company has organized. The object is to build a railway from some point near Spokane Falls to Murray, Idaho. Ground will be broken within six months and it is thought forty miles will be built and equipped by next fall.

An unknown man attempted to kill D. H. Thomas, editor of the Forest Grove Pharos, early Saturday morning. Three shots were fired, one taking effect in the thigh. Thomas knows of no reason why any one should attempt his life and thinks the assassin must have taken him for some other person.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Oregon and Washington territory, generally fair weather, except in the extreme northwestern portion, where there will be occasional rains. Winds, southeasterly along the coast. Temperature, slightly higher.

The Oregonian.
PORTLAND, MONDAY JAN. 11, 1886.

ANOTHER BLUNDER AND WHY

The late special session of the legislature was called for the simple and definite purpose of supplying the omissions and correcting the mistakes of the preceding regular session. The governor so stated to the legislature in his message and so reframed purposely from suggesting new subjects of legislation. It would seem that a body thus rebuked and convened to do its neglected duty and to do over again its slighted and faulty work, would be sensible of its responsibility and diligent in its course. But not so.

The general registry law adopted at the regular session a year ago provides in section 4 that the judges of elections shall meet at the usual places of voting in the various precincts on the first Monday of March preceding the election to register the names of voters. An act amendatory of this law, adopted at the late special legislative session and approved Nov 25th, changes the time for the meeting of judges to the first Monday of April. Another act of the special session approved Nov 30th, entitled "an act to provide for a uniform system of books and certificates to be used in the registration of voters," etc, which without purporting in terms to further amend section 4 provides under the head of "duties and instructions for judges and clerks of elections," that on the first Monday in March preceding elections, etc, the judges shall meet, etc, as in the former act.

By this statement it will be seen that the original act fixes the time for the judges to meet upon the first Monday of March. The second act (amendment), approved November 25, fixes the time for the same service upon the first Monday of April. The third act (amendment), approved November 30, fixes the time for the same service upon the first Monday of March. Under these provisions there is some uncertainty, and there are many inquiries as to what day the judges should meet.

The intent of the legislature is understood well enough. The matter was discussed at length in both houses and it appearing that it would be more convenient for the voters to register in April than in March, the original law was amended. The subsequent amendment was for an entirely different purpose, and its clause as to the time of registration was merely incidental. It had no part in the purpose of the amendment and its inclusion was unnecessary and stupid. As it bears a later date than the first amendatory act, however, it will, we believe, be held to be a later and governing law. If this theory be sustained the voters of the country will have to go through the mud and storms of March to their polling places for registration.

This blunder is particularly vexatious when we consider the circumstances through which it was brought about. The second amendment was not needed to give effect to the law. Its purpose was to give a certain firm a monopoly of furnishing the books and blanks for registration. It was prepared blunderingly by the party chiefly in interest, introduced carelessly by a member who did not even read it, hurried through its formal readings, and upon a hasty and false explanation passed. We venture to say that no member of the legislature has read this act or knew anything definitely about its provisions when it was passed.

It is believed by many that the registry law itself will prove inoperative in that it imposes certain limitations upon the exercise of suffrage in violation of the constitution of the state, which provides that at all elections authorized by law every male citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years and upwards who shall have resided in the state during the six months immediately preceding such elections, shall have the right to vote. The registry law comes in and declares that all who do not register at a certain date previous to the election shall not be allowed to vote. It is believed that a voter who, having failed to register, should claim his right under the constitution, could compel his vote to be received.

These difficulties and others through which the state has been carried and dishonestly during the past year are the consequences of haste, carelessness and dishonesty. The period of legislation is short, but it will be of little use to extend it till we send men of honesty, capacity and habits of attention to represent us. Nobody will pretend that as a rule we do this now. The controlling element is always made up of men whose heads are full of schemes for their own advantage, either direct or through their "pals," and who bring to the business of legislation neither integrity, capacity nor attention. The majority in the last legislature, for example, was so carried way by its "interest" in Mitchell that it could think of nothing else and gave no heed to legitimate business. The people of the state have a right to be disgusted, as they are, with a legislature whose whole course was blundering, vicious and discreditable. But it was in accord with the methods of the Mitchell school of politics, straight through. If there shall be found nothing better in the republican party of Oregon than this, the people have had enough of that party, and republicans who detest such things will act henceforth upon their own independent judgment.

STAPLES AND PRICES

Our country produces much the larger part of the cotton crop of the world. A New York trade journal shows that, during six years, from 1866 to 1872, the average annual cotton production (measured by bales of 400 pounds each) was as follows: For the United States, 2,767,000 bales; all other countries, 2,537,000 bales; for the whole world, 5,304,000 bales. During six years from 1873 to 1878, the average annual crop was [illegible] bales for the United States, 2,022,000 bales for other countries, and 5,793,000 bales for the world. In the six years next following, from 1879 to 1884, the yearly average product was: For the United States, 6,710,000 bales; other countries, 2,081,000 bales; total crop, 8,792,000 bales.

The same journal shows further that the average annual cotton consumption during the periods of years named was as follows: For the first six years, 1866-72, in Europe, 4,186,000 bales; in the United States, 1,033,000 bales; total, 5,419,000 bales. During the second series of years—1872-78—the annual consumption in Europe was 5,387,000 bales, in the United States, 1,481,000 bales; total, 6,868,000. In the last series of years 1878-84 the factories of Europe consumed 6,713,000 bales annually, those of the United States, 2,117,000 bales, and the factories of both countries, 8,830,000 bales annually.

The conclusion of special significance which the journal referred to draws from this showing is this, viz: While the consumption of cotton in the United States has doubled since 1866-72 and the consumption in Europe has increased full 50 per cent, the proportionate production of cotton growing countries of the world, other than the United States, has been steadily declining. In 1866-67 this foreign production aggregated 50 per cent. of the total. In the first series of years noted above it had decreased to 45½ per cent. In the next series to 3[illegible] per cent, and in the last series, 1878-84, to [illegible] per cent. of the total. Therefore it is not true, as many suppose, that the increased production of cotton in other countries than the United States is the cause of the low prices of that commodity now prevailing in our cotton states and in the markets of the world.

It may be seriously questioned whether a like observation will not apply to our other great staple, wheat—whether, in fact, the increased supply furnished by other countries than our own is the main thing that keeps down the price. It is more probable that some powerful cause, whose operation and tendency are not yet fully recognized in the commercial world, is at work in these matters and that the shrinkage of all prices is an effect of it. We think it probable that that cause is nothing less than the constantly shortening supply of gold in the commerce of the world, connected with the efforts of commercial nations to maintain gold as the sole standard and measure of values, without help from silver, auxiliary of gold as a money metal, from the earliest times.

In the Vanderbilt estate there is a little matter of $100,000,000 that seems hitherto to have been overlooked. The estate is now said to foot up $305,000,000.

ABOUT IMAGINARY ESTATES.

During the last year or two there has been an unusual increase in the number of vast estates in England which are supposed to be looking to America for owners, and the exceeding great number of American heirs to these vast accumulations of property presents a striking contrast to the decline and final extinction of the English representatives of the respective families interested, suggesting remarkable fecundity in said families on this side of the water and as remarkable sterility on the other—or, what is more in accord with fact, a singular credulity among Americans about imaginary estates in England, and a exceedingly strange notions about the possibility of getting at them. If this kind of thing goes on much longer it will be a poor sort of American family which has not great expectations of sharing in estates of fabulous magnitude in England, whose representatives there are all dead. A little arithmetical calculation demonstrates the fact that the sum of the estates of this description discovered in England during the past year and looking for owners in America is almost large enough to pay off the national debts of both countries. Transfer of such a sum from England would quite bankrupt that country, and would produce in America a corresponding "boom"—but there would seem to be no occasion for alarm in England or elation in America. So at least we should judge from the tenor of a paper on the subject of unclaimed estates in England, prepared under the direction of Minister Lowell by Henry White, one of our secretaries of legation in London, and sent with other state papers to congress by President Cleveland. Minister Lowell appears to have thought it a very proper and perhaps a necessary thing to take notice of the craze in America on the subject of unclaimed estates in England and we are led to infer from his action that he was bored excessively on the subject by credulous people in America.

A summary of Mr White's article on the subject is published by eastern papers. He says that many are led to believe themselves heirs to vast estates in Great Britain by designing persons on both sides of the ocean, who, with a view to personal gain, insert notices in newspapers in the United States to the effect that a large property has been left by a person of the same name with that of some well-known family of the district or of some exceedingly common name, such as Smith or Jones and to support this pretense they distribute far and wide lists of unclaimed estates which do not exist. Large sums of money are annually thrown away by the dupes of these advertisements and fictitious lists, and a handsome revenue is made by the so-called agents. The modus operandi usually adopted is to ask first for a remittance of £2 or £3 to cover the cost of copying the will upon which the claim purports to be based; then a larger sum for instituting inquiries and at each successive stage more blackmail is levied. Several years frequently elapse before the fraud is discovered.

Among the cases cited by Mr White is that of the great Jennens estate. Sharpers in England succeeded in interesting in this estate a great number of American "claimants." The estate was a very large one, but not one-tenth part as large as represented. It is shown by Mr White that the property went to the heirs in England long before the American claimants were ever heard of, and that the latter never could have had a shadow of title to it. Yet large contributions were collected during many years through what was called the "Jennens Association of the United States of America." Some of the swindlers made large fortunes. Not long ago, though the administrator of the estate was closed many years since, a letter was received at the American legation from a member of the so-called "Jennens Association," who had just been notified that a general assessment of [illegible] dollars had been levied for the year ending June [illegible], [illegible] and who, before paying the same, inquired whether the legation could furnish any information regarding the Jennens estate, "as it is pending before the court of chancery in England." The letter enclosed sundry interesting documents emanating from the association, in one of which it was stated that "the finances of the association are fully satisfied with our agents in [illegible] ... it has become necessary for each and every member of the association to respond with cash, each [illegible] as their means will afford, to carry our case to a final issue, which we have every reason to believe will be successful, provided the funds be furnished." Similar to this case are the Hedges estate, the Bradford estate, the Hyde estate, the Horne estate and many others, which are described as among "the ordinary myths by which so many of our countrymen have been beguiled." He notable English solicitors state that not one claim in a thousand of all those referred to them by this legation has had any validity whatever, and very few, during their long experience, of claims from America have been successful.

Further, Mr White writes that letters are often received at the legation from the United States in reference to the unclaimed funds in Chancery. He says: "To judge from these letters many of our countrymen must imagine that institution to be a depository of incalculable millions, a goodly share of which can be easily withdrawn upon the mere institution of a claim to the same by the American minister and without requirement by the court of any particulars as to the name of the suit, the relationship of the claimant to the parties mentioned therein or to the original owner of the estate claimed. It is very rarely that in any communication sent on this subject a smaller sum is mentioned than several millions, and frequently the correspondents state that they are entitled to twenty, fifty and even more millions. It will doubtless cause some surprise and disappointment to such as these to be informed that the whole amount of money in the custody of the court of chancery at the present time is about £[illegible] of which £[illegible] belong to owners who are known, leaving about one million only of unclaimed or dormant funds."

In nearly all cases such inquiries are started by swindlers in England, who have found multitudes of gullible people in America during many years past and who of late (in the slang of the day) have been "working the racket with more industry and perhaps with more success than ever before.

THE APACHE HUNT

Gen Crook having failed to catch the renegade Apaches in the short order expected when he started, has been relieved of command by the president and Gen Miles has been sent to take his place. It is not likely that Miles will have better luck. The job of Indian fighting which George Crook is unable to get away with is not a thing to be hopefully sought by anybody else. The Apache hunt has reached one of those absurd and vexatious situations so common in Indian warfare. About fifty Indians are roaming over the great uninhabited southwestern territory and a military force of eleven hundred men is trying to capture them. It's a good deal like hunting a mouse in a hay stack with a sledge-hammer. There is no winter in that region, the country is rough and thoroughly familiar to the Indians, who can easily live upon it as they move rapidly about. The troops are at a great disadvantage, being in a situation where superior numbers, courage, discipline and activity, of the military sort, are of no avail. The removal of Gen Crook, while a relief from a nasty and difficult job, is a reflection upon his abilities and as such will be regretted by the thousands who know how excellent a soldier he is and how particularly able he is in Indian warfare. Gen. Miles is an excellent officer,—none better, but as the Alta California expresses it, may find "miles and miles between him and success in an undertaking in which Gen. Crook has not been able to keep up with the procession.

The correspondent at Prineville, who grumbles because the governor, in appointing a judge for Crook county, selected a democrat for the position, is entitled to be heard, but THE OREGONIAN must remonstrate against his statement. The fitness of the appointee be fully conceded. This being so, we can't see that much remains to be said. The office of county judge is not a political office, nor does there seem to be great reason for republicans to be greatly depressed or democrats to be correspondingly elated, because the governor selected a democrat for the position. The president of the United States is a democrat, or calls himself one, and republicans at all live and the country is safe. Then why be unhappy about so small a matter as this judgeship in Crook county? A party vote in Crook will give that office and any other to the democrats anyhow, and the governor, if he considered the party aspects of the case,—if there are any,—may have thought it only fair to appoint a democratic judge for a county that contains a positive democratic majority.

Since the reassembling of congress it has become more apparent than ever that the president's policy in relation to silver will receive very little support. Many of the members who had gone home for the holidays have returned stronger than ever in favor of silver. It is certain that in the senate a majority of the democratic side will be with Mr Beck, and in the house the increase in the strength of the silver men is even more marked. These members have come immediately from their constituencies, and regard it as equivalent to political suicide to take a stand against an unlimited currency of silver dollars.

Democratic papers are beginning to speculate as to the "coming man" of their party. Some of them say Hill of New York, while others say Voorhees of Indiana. This moves the Boston Herald (mugwump) to remark: "The coming man of the democratic party is already here and in the White house. His name is Grover Cleveland, and if his party shall pass him by in 1888 it won't make a picayune's difference whom it shall nominate." But the mugwumps are not infallible, as the recent election in New York would appear to have demonstrated.

No nominations have yet been acted upon by the senate. About two thousand have been sent to that body by the president. It is believed that not more than fifty or sixty will excite any controversy.

THE TERRITORIAL LEGISLATURE

OLYMPIA, Jan [illegible]

HOSPITAL FOR INSANE.

The house committee on hospital for the insane report that they have visited the hospital and found under excellent management [illegible] the superintendent, Dr Waughop, who labors at a great disadvantage in the treatment of the insane and cure of the inmates owing to a lack of suitable conveniences for the care of the sick and the unhealthy condition of the buildings now in use, they being dilapidated and decayed. Owing to the rapid increase in the number of the patients it is found that the present force is inadequate to the care of the patients. Therefore it is recommended that the force be increased by providing for the appointment of an assistant physician, a matron and two assistant wardens, at [illegible] salary of the superintendent be $[illegible] ... assistant physician $[illegible] ... the duty of steward be added to that of [illegible] at a salary of $[illegible] ... ward warden $600, assistant warden $[illegible] ... cook $[illegible] ... baker $[illegible] ... assistant cook $[illegible] ... steward $400, matron $600, assistant matron $[illegible] ... laundress $300. The report further recommends an appropriation of $100,000 for the purpose of constructing a hospital at Steilacoom. The report has not yet been acted on.

MARRIAGE ACT

The new law with regard to marriages has been amended in the council by providing that the fee of $[illegible] formerly paid to the probate judge by the party who officiated at the marriage shall be paid by the bridegroom. This will be rather [illegible] on young men contemplating marriage [illegible] these hard times, and may be a serious blow to the prospects of many young couples. This seems to be a very different time we live in when compared with the days of old, when the territory thought it [illegible] to give [illegible] acres of land on condition that he would take unto himself a wife.

WOMEN ON JURIES

The following are the provisions of a bill introduced in the house to-day by Mr Tefft: That no woman shall be compelled against her will to serve on any jury in any county in this territory.

The bill is a wise one and while no loyal woman in the territory would think for a moment of refusing to perform jury duty yet it is too plainly evident that the law compelling her against her will to do so is more than was contemplated by the legislature that gave her the power to vote. While a few women might object to having their names left off the jury list, yet if it was left to the vote of the majority it would certainly and rightly result in their asking for exemption from the most unpleasant duty that devolves upon American citizens.

THE EAST SIDE.

BADLY SCALDED

Saturday evening a serious accident befell the child daughter of Philip Flood residing on [illegible] street between Ninth and Tenth. While Flood was preparing supper the little girl's mother's back being turned undertook to haul a pan of boiling water that was standing on the [illegible] with the result of it over spilling the contents on her legs. The front half of the right leg was scalded the entire length destroying the skin, the thigh of the left leg scared a similar fate. The injury is very serious but if erysipelas does not ensue the chances will be in her favor. Dr [illegible] was summoned and is attending her.

ACCIDENT BY THE CARS

Mr B Pape was the victim of a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon. Going to the O [illegible] train in order to see a friend off he sat on [illegible] which skirts the incline on the river [illegible] while the train went down to connect with the transfer boat. He naturally supposed there was no room for him to sit on the [illegible] but was mistaken. A protruding from the steps of the mail car caught the [illegible] with the side of his right leg between the knee and ankle and cut it badly, while the [illegible] caused him to lose his footing and fall backwards. He fell about ten feet striking [illegible] shoulder and receiving a severe shock. It was some little time before he could be got [illegible] when he was assisted to the residence of J H M Millen and was attended by Dr Millen [illegible] McMillen's addition. Subsequently he was conveyed to his residence on C and Eleventh streets. There is continual danger of such accidents and two of like nature as that reported above are said to have occurred within a short time recently and the passenger train was ascending the incline immediately after the accident yesterday it had to be stopped to avoid a repetition of the same through the obstinacy of a young man who was evidently not aware of the danger. The matter should be remedied at once.

RUNAWAYS

Strawberry Smith of Mount Tabor left his horse and wagon unsecured on Fourth street between I and J Saturday afternoon when the horse took advantage of the opportunity to take a lively run up I street. He gave out at Tenth street however and was secured having done [illegible] damage.

One of Weinhard's fine teams was scared [illegible] standing near the foot of L street Saturday [illegible] and made excellent time to Fourth street where they were stopped. The driver tried to hold them at the start but was knocked down [illegible] over for his pains. One post [illegible] from under the awning of Burkhart's pork packery which was the only damage done.

NOTES

McKenzie Brothers are building a neat cottage on Twelfth and O streets.

Clarke Lewis, a victim of consumption is gradually and surely declining.

Mr A Samuels, son in law of J De Clark is seriously ill at Los Angeles Cal.

The following delegates were elected by [illegible] Saturday evening to the [illegible] which meets at Albany at [illegible] o'clock on [illegible] Mr and Mrs [illegible] Ross, Mrs [illegible] Miss Annie Busby and Chris Kennell.

The committee appointed by the property owners of Fort [illegible] to prepare articles of incorporation [illegible] Saturday night, but failed to [illegible] at the appointed time and adjourned. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

CAUCASIAN MONGOLIAN FAMILY — A shanty on M street between Ninth and Tenth ... has been recently occupied by a family that have attracted the attention of the neighborhood by the strange and unnatural union of the Caucasian and Mongolian blood existing, there the husband being an Englishman and the wife a Chinawoman while their half breed progeny numbers no less than seven ranging from about 3 to 15 years of age and all boys excepting one small girl. An OREGONIAN reporter hearing of the fact repaired to the place indicated yesterday to satisfy himself of its correctness and found that he had not been misinformed. The father and a few of the Anglo-Chinese sallow complexioned children were seen about the premises while the mother surveyed their actions from the window. The latter appeared to be a good looking Chinawoman and of a retiring disposition, at any rate she retired from the window when the critical glance of the reporter struck her. This family is supposed to be the same that recently arrived at San Francisco from China but having no passports were refused a landing and subsequently went to Victoria where they also were refused admission except upon payment of a per capita tax of $50. It is supposition is correct how they finally found their way to Portland is a mystery.

QUESTION IN NATURAL HISTORY —In a discussion concerning ... birds a few evenings since ... sportsman ... that the sage hen ... from all other birds in having no gizzard ... place of this food mill being supplied by a stomach ... like that of a sheep or a cow. This statement was disputed by several who claimed it at the sage hen ... to the grouse family and that in structural arrangements it is therefore the same as the grouse pheasant and prairie chicken and others of the same family. But the ... insisted that he was right and after consulting his authorities he claims that two other birds of this country the road runner and the bittern are also minus a gizzard. The natural history reporter of THE OREGONIAN gives ... He has never seen a sage hen nor a road runner but he once heard a bittern booming in a swamp and from the noise it made like a jackass trying to bray with its head under water he is inclined to think that the poky bird was bewailing its want of a gizzard or some other misfortune. If some of the gentlemen who kindly furnished information in regard to the evening grosbeak will settle the stomach of the sage hen road runner and bittern they will confer a favor.

PUSH TO COLVILLE —A rush to the mines of the Colville country and Baker county is expected next spring, but the Spokane folks ... seem are not waiting for spring or anything else. The R... says There was a grand rush ... of interested parties to the Colville country yesterday and another ... leaves to day. All of them are interested directly or indirectly in the mines and most of them go up to stay the balance of the winter and probably until next fall. Some of the claim holders will go to work at once and push work on their mines. Especially is this the case with Messrs Chilson and Cable who are joint owners with others in the Young America one of the most promising mines in the country. A tunnel is being run in on the claim and the ore which runs all the way from $100 to $600 to the ton is being deposited on the dump. It is the intention of the owners to put up a water jacket furnace early in the spring and smelt their own ore. The following is a list of the parties who moved out yesterday and who expect to start this morning: A. J. Benoist, R. Chilson, Ed Rice, M. J. Benham, H. F. Young, W. P. Cable, Jack Burnham, Geo. A. P. Curry, Harry Gordon and Mr Kenney. They go on horseback and in sleighs.

PRISONERS ENJOYING THEMSELVES —Probably but few of the readers of THE OREGONIAN would derive much pleasure from being locked up in jail. But it is because they are not used to it. It is nothing, after you get used to it as could be seen at the city jail last night where forty odd prisoners and a dozen lodgers were enjoying themselves and having more fun than a circus. They were holding a mock court and trying one another and many of them having had considerable experience in being tried, they acquitted themselves very creditably. The arguments of the learned counsel would have done credit to Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Gleason or to James A. Campbell. Among the prisoners were F. Brazelton and Charles Wabnitz, arrested for fighting, and Harry Smith for begging. They belong to the crowd of vags who were run in a few days since and allowed to go again and they will think the fighting was done just for the sake of getting in again. The warm jail and the hot meals obtain there ... a pleasant change from the ... ... chance ... of ... ... tramps are accustomed at this season.

BIG FIRE AT WALLULA

The Railroad Depot and Hotel Building Destroyed early Yesterday Morning—Loss nearly $60,000

About half past 5 yesterday morning fire broke out in the laundry of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company's depot and hotel building at Wallula Junction and before anything could be done to stay the progress of the flames the entire structure was reduced to ashes. All the guests succeeded in making their escape and most of them saved their personal effects. Nearly all the furniture and hotel appurtenances were burned. The building was erected by the railroad company some three years ago at a cost of $50,000 and was one of the finest buildings of the kind on the coast. It was insured for $20,000.

The hotel and saloon were owned by the A. P. Hotaling company and managed by Mr Cone. Their loss is estimated at between $8,000 and $10,000, partly insured. It is altogether likely that the company will rebuild immediately. Yesterday afternoon C. W. Johnson assistant superintendent and G. R. Shaw roadmaster went up to Wallula to make temporary arrangements for the accommodation of passengers and express and mail matter. The telegraph office in ... ... ing was not burned. The origin of the fire ... not be learned but it is supposed to have been caused by a defective flue.

A PROTEST AND REBUKE

Made at Heppner by a Person Unknown to The Oregonian

A person we do not know ... signs himself ... writes thus to the Heppner Times, one of those papers that have sought to gain distinction for themselves by malignant and rancorous attacks upon THE OREGONIAN. The Times, we notice, has just been sold out and will be moved from Heppner to Lexington. It is no surprise that the people of Heppner didn't want and will not support such a paper. The fellow in whom ... ... it was ... ... is one Homer H ... ... Here is a portion of his letter to him:

HEPPNER, Or., Jan ..., 1886

To the Editor of the Times

I am neither an agent nor a retained attorney to fight the battles of THE OREGONIAN, for that paper is well able to defend itself, but as a subscriber to your paper who has the interest of Heppner at heart and who wishes to see the county seat located at this place I would like to know why this continued ungrateful kick is against the only real newspaper in the state is kept up by you and some other little county papers. I say ungrateful in the very fullest sense of the meaning, for what would you, Mr Editor, or any of us know about what is going on in the world were it not for that much condemned OREGONIAN. Suppose for instance ... that THE OREGONIAN should conclude not to publish for one week any of its telegraphic news? What would these very howlers do to fill their columns? They may perchance follow in the footsteps of its leader ... print the ... ... dates, but ... ... long satisfy the public, who want the very latest news. But aside of the telegraphic dispatches there is nothing of interest happening anywhere in Oregon or Washington territory that THE OREGONIAN is not the first to publish, often beating the local papers published in the neighborhood where the news occurred, for it has its agents and friends in every place with instructions to telegraph anything of interest that may happen. Now I call this enterprise, and enterprise that is success which I am glad to see THE OREGONIAN enjoy and which I think causes the jealousy of the small fry daily press of Portland and its ... lower in the country. To THE EDITOR of THE OREGONIAN

The recent appointment by Gov Moody of C. A. V. Benton to the office of county judge made vacant by the resignation of T. A. E. Hines broke one of his legs while at work in Miller & Co.'s mill at Grant's Pass a few days ago.

Klamath lake is covered with ice for the first time this season, and skaters are making the most of it.

Forty-four bodies were placed in the Jackson ville cemetery during 1885, ten less than the previous year.

Some heavy crops are expected in Morrow county next season, judging from the amount of land seeded.

Mr. P. Griswold intends to plant about twenty-five acres in garden truck for the Ashland market next season.

The mercury has not fallen more than two or three degrees below the freezing point in Ashland yet this winter.

F. A. English, of Sam's valley, is planting 1000 fruit trees. He is engaged in fruit culture on an extensive scale.

Mr. D. N. Beales, who was shot by M. Patrick while hunting near Day's creek, Douglas county, December 26, died January 1 from the effects of the wound.

The steamer Coos struck a snag on Coos river and sunk last week. She was raised and taken to Utter City, where she is at present on the dry dock for repairs.

The net receipts of the Jacksonville postoffice during the last fiscal year were $706 10, and those of Ashland during the same time were $6?? 97, and of Roseburg $586 50.

The county records arrived at Grant's Pass from Kerbyville last Saturday and are in position. Public business is being transacted there as expeditiously as if nothing had happened.

Dalles Itemizer: One day last week Miss Maggie Martin was mopping the floor of a room in her father's house, near Rowell's mill, when she accidentally fell across the edge of a tub of water and broke three of her ribs.

The north bound train ran into a landslide in the Cow creek canyon a few nights ago, and the locomotive of another train collided with a tree lying across the track near Grant's Pass; but no serious damage resulted in either instance.

Jacksonville Times: A cannery is being talked of at Grant's Pass, and we are informed the prospects are favorable for its being established at that place. It would prove of immense benefit to Southern Oregon and ultimately pay well.

A large sash and door factory is being constructed at Grant's Pass by Messrs. J. C. Carson and Frank Miller, of Portland, and other persons. It will be 0x120 feet in size, two stories high, and fifty men will be employed. The foundation is of brick and stone.

While riding along the Salt Creek road near Albert Baxter's, last Tuesday, Miss Louise Conner fell, face downward from her horse. In falling the horse kicked her in the side and she became insensible. Her injuries were severe but not fatal, and it is expected that she will be around in a few days.

The little sternwheel steamer Economy arrived at Seattle from Tacoma Thursday afternoon. After undergoing a few repairs she will go into Lake Washington by way of Black river, and there do a general jobbing business. She draws but little water, and will be a useful boat on Squak slough as well as the two lakes.

Astoria Times: Adams has built three extensive brick buildings in the year 1885, besides one-half of all wooden buildings that are now in the city. We expect to do still more the coming year, and have every encouragement to believe that Adams will be second to none in the county two years hence in size, enterprise and social worth.

George Branson, Jr., met with an accident last Wednesday at Sheridan that almost terminated fatally. He was extracting a primer from a loaded Winchester shell, No. 60, when it exploded, the bullet tearing away the second finger of the left hand and through the ceiling of a room upstairs, barely missing one of some children who were playing there.

Marshfield News: The four-masted schooner now on the ways at North Bend is about three-fourths completed. Only a few men are at work on the vessel, as there is no urgent demand for its speedy launching, and it is only being finished up to get it out of the way and into the water, when the danger from fire will not be so great as it is in the yard.

The Dalles Times-Mountaineer: About 100 men are employed opposite this point on the Washington side of the river, surveying and making preparations to prepare the grade for a railroad. Three companies are anxiously battling for supremacy—the O. R. & N., the Walla Walla and the D. O. Mills—reported to represent Jay Gould and the Oregon Short Line.

La Grande Gazette: The confectionery store of N. D. Boley in the first ward was burglarized Tuesday night by some unknown party, and valuables to the amount of over $100, including a gold watch, taken from the show case. The window in the rear of the building through which the thief entered was nailed down on the inside and some time during the day the party broke the nails off, making access easy.

Canyon City News, Jan 7: Last Saturday a fatal catastrophe occurred at Dayville, resulting in the death of Frank Taylor. We have not learned all the particulars, but from what we can learn it seems that Taylor and Sam Miller got into a difficulty about something, when Miller attacked Taylor with a knife, inflicting wounds from which the latter died Sunday night. Miller was arrested and placed under a $3000 bond to await the action of the grand jury.

Marshfield News: D. Ingersoll, the South slough fisherman, came near losing a ton of herring, more or less, New Year's day, by the swamping of his boat at the slaughter house landing as he was coming up in tow of the Comet. He lost an oar, a gum coat and some of his fish, and finally reached town with a fisherman's usual luck, wet and hungry. Saturday he sold his herring at the rate of three gallons or fifty cents.

Heppner Gazette: Quite a number of new homes are being made on the government and railroad lands to the west of Willow creek and along above the mouth of Clark's canyon, eight to twelve miles northwest from Heppner and within a few miles of Lexington. Wells are being sunk on many of the new ranches, and in several cases a depth of about forty feet has been reached without striking the welcome water. Settlers are rapidly improving the neighborhood and rendering great assistance to each other by swapping work at present, so that business goes right along if cash is scarce.

Accident in a Tunnel

The Redding Independent gives the following report of a recent accident in a tunnel on the C. & O. railroad extension:

About 7 o'clock Sunday evening, as a party of carpenters were putting some lagging in the south end of tunnel No. 10, about two miles below Sims, Southern, some of the loose rocks fell from the top of the tunnel, and striking the staging on which the men were standing, broke the supports and precipitated the men, timbers and rock to the bottom—about fourteen feet. The men were extricated from the tunnel and removed to the camp, a hundred yards away, until surgical aid could be obtained.

John Hayward, foreman, sustained a fracture of the femur, just above the knee and some scalp wounds and some injuries about the hands and face.

P. Noble has a double fracture of the lower jaw—a heavy piece of timber resting on his head at the time he was found. He was first supposed to be dead, but walked to the camp, being the first of the crippled men to reach there.

R. F. Barnes fell astride a sharp rock and also received some sharp wounds. His injuries are quite painful, but probably not serious.

J. Stewart has two ugly gashes in the side and back part of his head, but the skull was not fractured.

These four have been taken to the railroad hospital in Sacramento. T. J. Baker had his wrist badly sprained, and some slight cuts about the head. Three others received scratches, but remained in camp.

WASHINGTON.

Six inches of snow covered Colfax on Tuesday.

Nine vessels are now taking in lumber at Port Blakeley.

Tacoma assembly, No. 4223, K. of L., has 372 members.

The late term of the district court of Whitman county cost $6000.

Tacoma Knights of Labor have opened a new reading room in that city.

The mercury was sixteen degrees below zero at Garfield on Thursday last.

Nearly 12,000 acres of the O. R. & N. company's Palouse lands have been sold during the past three months.

Prairie chickens are numerous around Farmington since the snow came. They can be found in the willows along the creeks in large bands. Some hunters have filled their game bags in an hour or two.

The Knights of Labor of Seattle have sent resolutions to the legislature asking that woman's jury duty be allowed to remain on the same footing as man's. They give good reasons for their stand in the matter.

A movement is on foot to create a new county out of portions of the counties of Cowlitz, Clarke and Skamania. Until we have a greater number of legislators to parcel out it would be just as well for the territory to go out of the county creation business.

A new road is to be built in the spring from Almota ferry to intersect the Pomeroy road at Wm. Lambrie's, shortening the road to Pomeroy two miles. L. M. Ringer will build a warehouse on the opposite side of the river from Almota, to accommodate the grain coming to the river via the new road.

A Cheney, on Thursday, Harry Kilduff, passenger brakeman on Conductor Everl's train, while trying to eject a tramp from the train was "fired" by the tramp instead, striking the ground head and shoulder first, with result to break his collar bone. He was taken to his home in Cheney.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer: Conductor Hill, of the Shore Line road, while loosening a brake on a box car was thrown violently to the ground by the sudden starting of the car and received a number of painful bruises. Both arms were crippled, his knee-cap injured and his face and head badly bruised.

Articles of incorporation of the W. D. Scott Commercial company were filed in the auditor's office Jan. 9th. The incorporators are E. P. Ferry, Geo. D. Hill, S. W. Scott, J. Neelman and W. D. Scott. Tacoma Ledger: Capt. Dwer of the bark Arthem—which loaded here with a cargo of wheat for Great Britain and left for Port Townsend over a week ago—came up on the steamer Olympian on Thursday evening. The captain could not obtain his clearance papers, owing to the fact that his bills of lading had not been received by the agent here. The captain states that he has been ready for sea for a week, and had sent the documents some time ago, and that the package has probably been miscarried. Capt. Dwer reports that his two mates deserted his vessel at Port Townsend, but he had immediately filled their places with new men. Yesterday evening the captain departed for Port Townsend, and stated that he would leave that port on his long voyage as soon as he could procure the services of a tug.

The Kootenai Railroad

Mr. C. B. Wright, during a visit to Montreal a few days since, gave a synopsis of his schemes to a Herald representative from which we glean the following particulars in reference to the schemes of that gentleman and those associated with him, especially that of the Columbia River & Kootenai railroad company, in which Portland capitalists are interested. Mr. Wright stated that the line of railway which his company intended to build this season will be twenty-five miles long, and will extend from the mouth of the Kootenai river, on the Columbia river, to Kootenai lake. It was originally intended to be a narrow-gauge road, but it will probably be made of the standard gauge. It is intended to tap the rich mining region of Kootenai lake, which is now inaccessible from any point except Sand Point, on the Northern Pacific. In connection with the railroad the company will build steamers to run from their western terminus up the Columbia river to Farwell—the west crossing of the Columbia by the Canadian Pacific railroad, and also steamers to run on Kootenai lake to the boundary line between British Columbia and the United States. The company have a grant of 750,000 acres of land from the British Columbia government. Of this they have already taken up 50,000 acres in the rich mineral belt on Kootenai lake. The remaining 700,000 acres will be selected along both banks of the Columbia river, from the boundary line to the head of navigation on that stream.

A reserve of six miles wide on each side of the Columbia has been made by the local government to continue until 1888, before which time the company must make their selection of lands. The mining region of Kootenai lake district consists of an argentiferous belt of galena ore, running northeast across the lake, several miles in width. In this belt exists the most extensive deposits of lead ore probably in the world. The assays of the various veins of ore vary from $15 to $175 worth of silver per ton. The facilities for smelting are very great. Iron ore and limestone exist in the immediate vicinity, both being needed for a flux for smelting. A clay capable of producing fire-brick is also found on the borders of the lake. Charcoal can be obtained from the forests which surround the lake. It is Mr. Wright's opinion that within a few years the Kootenai district will be the largest base-metal producing district on the Pacific coast, and that hundreds of tons of pig lead will be shipped daily from that region. Northerly from the immediate vicinity of the lead mines, along the rivers emptying into Kootenai lake, placer gold diggings have been found during the season of 1885, and a railway is now projected from the town of Farwell to the head of Upper Arrow lake, thence across a low divide to Kootenai lake mines. South of the boundary line in the Colville district, rich silver and lead mines have been opened during the past season, and it is probable that the belt will be found continuous throughout Idaho and Montana. North of the town of Farwell, in the Big Bend region of the Columbia, some very rich gold bearing quartz has been discovered, which will attract a great many miners and capitalists during the coming season. Steamboats will be put on the Columbia river, from Farwell up wards, to supply this district. Mr. Wright expects this mining region to provide a large body of traffic to the Canadian Pacific, as the lead of his company, in pigs, will be shipped over the railway to Montreal en route to Swansea. He believed that the timber cattle and mines of British Columbia will form very large items in the traffic of this railway.

Late San Francisco papers say it is generally understood that the Gold and Stock Telegraph Co had purchased control of the Merchants Exchange, thereby securing the stock held by the Produce Exchange. This stock was purchased by the Produce Exchange about two years ago, and consists of 1175 shares and gave control. Officers of the Gold and Stock Co. and of the exchange declined to say anything, but did not deny the statement.

The canned tomato pack for 1885 is given by the American Grocer as having been 1,431,000 cases of two dozen tins, against 2,31?,?? cases in 1884. California is credited with 80,000 cases, against 1?,800 in 1884. The 1885 pack would furnish only three cases to each family in the United States. The pack of 1884 was nearly 1,000,000 cases less than that of 1883, and that of 1885 was 800,000 less than that of 1884. Notwithstanding the lessened stock of 1884 the market exhibited no improvement of import under all the lines in 1885, and this was accepted as conclusive evidence that the heavy supplies of previous seasons were beyond requirements. The small 1885 pack is expected to place supply and demand on a more even basis. The season was a long one and unfavorable to the tomato crop by reason of low temperature, wet weather and early frosts in the East. This, with unsatisfactory prices, will explain the small pack. The new year opens with the statistical position exceedingly favorable. At the close of 1884 choice Delaware goods sold in New York at 65 cents for standard threes. The tone of the market changed early in January and prices slightly advanced. March opened weak and closed stronger. New York sales being made at a fraction over 85 cents. The failure of thirty-three packers, organized as the Red Seal association, was the cause of weakness in March. The markets slowly gained strength and at the close of December standard goods ranged from 95 to $1 10. From the present condition of stocks it is clear some increase in the crop, which ... to meet the requirements of the next eight months.

In the United States district court for Oregon 1882 the master of the British steamer Glencig was fined $?,?00 for having on board in excess of passengers. This sum was paid and King Kee & Co, agents for the vessel, applied for a remission of the fine within one year from the date of its collection. After the passage of the shipping act of June 2, 1884, the application was renewed under the 26th section of that act. The United States attorney general was solicited for an opinion upon two questions. First does the power to refund moneys conferred on the secretary of the treasury by act June 26 extend to moneys accruing from fines and penalties exacted and recovered prior to the passage of the act when the application for a refund was made within a year from date of payment? Second, is a power to remit vested in the secretary by the same section in cases where a competent tribunal shall have decided that such fines and penalties were legally imposed? The attorney general replied that the power to refund does not extend to payments of fines and penalties exacted and recovered prior to the date of the act and of which application for remission was made within a year from the date of payment and that section 26 does not give the secretary of the treasury a power of remission in cases where a competent tribunal shall have decided that such fines and penalties were legally imposed. The treasury department concurred in this opinion and have so informed the applicants. The Glencig arrived at Astoria in May 1882, and it will be remembered that her master was fined for bringing more Chinese than permitted by the navigation laws.

Contagious!

I am a native of England, and while I was in that country I contracted a terrible blood poison and for two years was under treatment as an outdoor patient at Nottingham Hospital, England, but was not cured. I suffered the most agonizing pains in my bones, and was covered with sores all over my body and limbs. Finally I came to America and was treated at Roosevelt hospital in New York, ... hospitals.

I saw the advertisement of Swift's Specific and I determined to give it a trial. I took six bottles and I can say with great joy that they have cured me entirely. I am as sound and well as I ever was in my life. L. FRED HALFORD

New York City, June 12th, 1885.

In March of last year 1884 I contracted blood poison, and being in Savannah, Ga., at the time, I went into the hospital there for treatment. I suffered very much from rheumatism at the same time. I did not get well under the treatment there, nor was I cured by any of the usual means. I have now taken seven bottles of Swift's Specific and am sound and well. It drove the poison out through the boils on the skin.
